and often affecting leave-takings.

An Affliction Scenz.

One very old farmer, in a suit of butternut, and nearly blind, came tottering in at this atternoon reception, having rode many miles to say good bye to Mr. Lincoln. Pressing his face close to his to catch a glimpse of his features, and bursting into tears, he said, "It is

In the Democrat of to-day is a reply to m In the Democrat of to-day is a reply to my article of the 8th. With your permission, I will briefly answer it. I wish to have no personal controversy with the Democrat on this surges. The subject of drainage the facts in the case. The subject of drainage the facts in the case. The subject of drainage is one of much importance to the man of its one of much importance to the man of the vicinity of this city, at present unit for cultivation, on account of its wetness, which can hardly be reuted for the ordinary taxes, would, if drained, make fine farms and profitable gardens, and would be readily occupied sarly filled that hundreds were com-tand during the whole performance. The rule, vocal and orchestral passed off to the "on of our best critics as somplete satisms..." (orchestra Besthoven's "Sixth Symphosis," although longer in execution than these had no seats could have desired, was remarkably well sustained throughout, by twenty-six instruments. It, as well as all on the procan hardly be rented for the ordinary taxes, would, if drained, make fine farms and profitable gardens, and would be readily occupied as such, when so improved. To drain well, there must be system. In ordinary cases it is of very little use for an owner of 40, 80 or 160 acres of hand to dig a ditch around it, and expect it to be drained. He must have an outfull, which, perhapa, may be over adjoining land, which he is not able to cross, except at a burdenasome cost of time and money. In order to have a perfect system of drainage, and good roads to reach the man when a makes, whe corrocation of "Gook County Drainage Commissions rs" was formed. It has done much to reclaim the wet lands in the vicinity of the city, and in different pairs of the county; but much more can be profitably done. This corporation, which the Democrat cails "one of the gesatist a rindles ever started," is composed of Herry Smith, George W. Show, James H. Rees, GeySteel, Isaac Gook, and Charles V. Dyer. They will be recognized as some of our oidest and most reputed citizens; gentlemen of honor and integrity, and possessing superior qualifications. The positions taken in my former article, have not been controverted by the Democrat, only declared "false." Let the Democrat prove them so. Its assertion that, "As to Mud Lake, we stand prepared to show that land has been assessed for improvements.

Period prove them so, its assertion that, "As to Mud Lake, we stand prepared to show that land has been assessed for improvements there, upon which the water runn southward to the Minstsippi," is nothing against the Commissioners, providing they did so. There is a good deal of land in this county that greatly needs draining to make it of any value. greatly needs draining to make it of any value for agricultural purposes, "open which the water runs southward to the Mississippl."
I think it will be found that no injunction has been granted by the Superior Court of this city, on the ground of the illegality of the general acts of this corporation.

all that concerns material prosperity has een unexampled; and if, in that time, ppiness to which a people may in ge attain—it has grown out of the mal and-disturbing influence of Hureproach of nations which would not rec-orative the circumstances under which the institution was planted. But in spite of all this the freedom, the individuality and the this, the freedom, the individuality and the security guaranteed by the law, have wrought their good work; and while we have been a reproach to some and a warning to others, we have been the astonishment of all the peoples of the earth. Our progress is due, not to our constitutional superiority, to elimatic influences, to local associations. Other people have more than our physical health and vigor, others more equable and healthful climates, and others still the historic associations which impel the emulation of great deeds. We have been prosperous because we have been free; because the dogmas of despotium have been far removed from us; and because we had implicit faith that whatever the drawbacks of to-day there was a ian have been far removed from us; and because we had implicit faith that whatever the drawbacks of to-day there was a still more glorious future in store, in which, all forms of oppression and tyranny being removed, every man in all this land, protected and encouraged by that Constitution which we reversance, would stand up, as God made him to stand, accountable to a human being for no set no word which

This, though a matter of inferior moment—inferior to the scheme for legalizing slavery in all territory south of 3630—is emphatically a scheme for legalizing slavery in all territory south of 38.90—is emphatically a

In one of Mr. Douglas' numerous tonics for healing the body politic, it is proposed that slavery shall not be abolished in the District of Columbia, even though every man, woman and child therein shall desire it, so long as slavery exists in Virginia. What high and peculiar interest Virginia may have in the District of Columbia, after having taken back Alexandria and all the ory she ever had jurisdiction over in district, we do not see. Morally considered, it would be just as proper to say so long as it exists in Maryland, or that Missouri shall never do so while it exists in Florida. This is another thing to be noticed and reflected upon.

In another of the "compromises" before Congress (we do not recollect which one) it is proposed to forever guarantee the right transportation of slaves " from one State tation of this clause would be the right of another, but the language is different. It proposes to guarantee forever the right of ransportation of slaves from South Carolina to Illinois as well as f lina to Georgia. The arsenals are principally depots for the storing and (until recently) safe-keeping of the arms. At some of the arsenals repairs and alterations have been carried on to a considera-ble extent, and some articles manufatured. Great numbers of muskets have been manufactured. Some have been distribut-

But all these are now imperfect weapons, and need to be replaced, particularly for distri-bution to the Western militia, with rifles. properly so called. Unless vigorous efforts are made we, who have heretofore considered the rifle our national weapon, shall soon be excelled by the European ar-mies, so far as our armed forces are con-

Of the rifles made at the armories, some have been excellent arms, well made and serviceable. Others, however, have been defective, particularly in the mode of rifling, and hardly to be depended on for that accuracy which a Western masses. that accuracy which a Western man seeks, and which, when found, makes an import-ant element in the confidence of the sol-dier. In the improvement of this class of arms, much probably remains to be done and when we consider the great numbers to be manufactured in order to arm our

In the process.

In the great States of Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota there is not even an arsenal of deposit. Some years ago the attention of Congress was called to the importance of a Western armory, and a commission sent out to look up a suitable site for such an inathuting. Since the time there has charged so much that but little examina-tion is necessary to determine that point. All the requisite conditions for the collec-tion of the raw material, and the rapid distribution of the finished product, are found here in our own city. The Govern-ment may safely trust such an establishment to the loyal citizens of the Northwest; and if its location be in any sense a matter of favor, we may well claim it. Of the armories now in operation, Man-favor, we may well claim it.

Of the armories now in operation, Massachusetts has one, and Virginia one. The arsenals are located, one in Maine, one in Massachusetts, one in Vermont, two in New York, two in Pennsylvania, one in Maryland, one in the District of Columbia, two in Virginia, and one in each of the of the States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Loutsiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Michigan, Culifornia and Texas. Upon this showing, is not the Northwest entitled to something in this line, and is not our own city the best location for it?

"A SABRATH AT HAWORYH," Is out in his definition of the sound of the word Keighley. This foreign ear has misled him. The real sound sildes from Keethley to keeshley, in different localities. If you sek how I know! I reply that ever so many years togo come this with of December, I was borne.
Have die near by for twenty-seven years
thereafter, and must have heard the name many thousand tiuses. I lived for years withna few minutes waits of a full view of lisaverith town and church, yet never went to the place is my life, for the simple reason that it was one of those places where no one ever thought of going, if he exult high it. A grim, hard place, poor as poverty; so poor that I remember the native of villages round about had hit upon a kind of common eaving to describe its chronic barrenness, and the utter futility of any hope that a man there could have any choice in his wars of living.
I heard it scores of times in my boyhood, long before the lives of those three inded sisters had mude Haworth what Burns made "Auld Ayr."
A poor fellow, comp litely correred, would ask advice of one entirely made to help him, and to no but the villy would be, "Thas musitons." And hundreds of others.

The Southern Confederacy Framed.

Maxroomer, Ala. Feb. 9.—The Congressat night unasimously agreed to a Constitution and Provisional Government. A strong and vigerous Government will go into immediate operation, with full powers and amplitudes. No prevocation for compromise or reconstruction will ge entertained. The Congress will remain to pession to make all necessary laws.

Moxrooment, Ala. Feb. 8.—Congress was in secret assetted four hours to-day, and me again to-shight, and has probably achieved important results, which will be made known to morrow. The doily public session was half a hour this morning, consumed in prayer so some formal business resolutions. Gen. Her ningser is here.

and proposed a compromise, viz: To make a vote now; we might thus, he added, save the Union.

The House postponed the consideration of the report of the committee of ten to-day vill Thursday next, and then resumed the consideration of the reports.

Mr. HUTCHINS of Ohlo argued against compromise. The verdict of the American people had been fairly obtained and judgment rendered upon it.

Mr. SUMMS of Kentucky advocated the Crittenden plan of settlement.

Mr. COA of Ohlo replied to some remarks of Mr. Hutchins concerning himself, which he characterized as indecent. The renegades and reaches of Mr. Hutchins concerning himself, which he characterized as indecent. The renegades and reaches of Mr. HUTCHINS responded, saying Mr. Cox would preserve the Union if he could do so by exciting prejudices against the Republican party.

Mr. OOX reforted that his collection was affected.

New York, Fen. 3.—The Herold Washington Correspondent says: I am satisfied from positive information received direct from Charleston that the attack on Fort Sunter has only been postponed until they can erect a sufficient number of batteries to accomplish their purpose. The time for withholding reinforcements to Major Anderson will case the moment Lieut. Hall returns to Fort Sonnier. I learn from a reliable source that Wodnesday next has been fixed upon as the time when the Secessionists will be ready to commence the assault upon Fort Sunter.
